

Internacional Conference

Health and Wellbeing in Sustainable Destinations

Indicators for Responsible Tourism

---

16-17 December, 2019 Preliminary program- Call for papers

The conference on health, wellbeing and sustainable destinations will be dedicated to the analysis and debate of indicators for the development of responsible tourism from a double analysis: health as a tourism product and health experiences of the local community of the destination. Two framework papers and two panels of experts will be organized with a varied representation of researchers, agents and professionals linked to both health, sustainability and responsible tourism.

We will also have a space dedicated to the presentation of communications based on research or experiences of good practices related to the theme of the conference. From the presentations, a set of papers will be selected to be published in the scientific journal PASOS.

Among the topics to be discussed include (non-exclusive):

- Health and well-being as a tourism product
- Health and local community
- Governance
- Sustainable development
- Responsible tourism
- Host and guest congruency
- Health, culture, heritage
- Social dimension of tourism

Important dates for the submission of communications:

15th september	Submission of proposal
05th october	Confirmation of acceptance
15th november	Paper for conference proceedings
15th january	Full paper to be published
